

Chippewa County Stand Against Meth Hidden in Plain Sight Items

Stickers may relate to drug activity or support. "420" is a counterculture Holiday that celebrates the use of marijuana. This is celebrated on April 20th where individuals come together and celebrate cannabis use. Posters, stickers, or other items are designed with 420.

Many containers serve as Hiding Places for drugs, paraphernalia, or other items. Often times the item is weighted and feels very real. Some items may have false bottoms and the actual contents of what is advertised in the top.

Many containers serve as Hiding Places for drugs, paraphernalia, or other items. Often times the item is weighted and feels very real. Some items may have false bottoms and the actual contents of what is advertised in the top.

This looks like a regular CD case but actually opens up to reveal a storage area for hidden items.

This is an actual functioning water bottle with a hidden compartment in the bottom that will fit a regular sized iPhone

Chippewa County Stand Against Meth

Hidden in Plain Sight Items

Many standard devices are used for other purposes. This functioning watch opens up to a "grinder" used to grind tobacco or marijuana.

This car key shaped remote opens up to reveal a mini functioning gram scale. Scales are often used when people are selling drugs or to assure what they are buying is accurate.

Silicone Wax containers are a non-stick option for people to store Hash Oil or dabs in. Dabs are also referred to as wax, shatter, amber, honeycomb, or budder. These are concentrated versions of butane hash oil (BHO), which contains highly concentrated levels of THC.

This hidden lightbulb actually plugs in and can be used for hiding drugs or other items.

Many containers serve as Hiding Places for drugs, paraphernalia, or other items.

Often times the item is weighted and feels very real. Some items may have false bottoms and the actual contents of what is advertised in the top.

Chippewa County Stand Against Meth Hidden in Plain Sight Items

Many containers serve as Hiding Places for drugs, paraphernalia, or other items. Often times the item is weighted and feels very real. Some items may have false bottoms and the actual contents of what is advertised in the top.

This cute trinket, or other similar trinkets, can be used for smoking marijuana or other drugs.

Pieces of clothing may depict marijuana leaves or a saying that eludes to marijuana or other drugs such as this "Kush" hat.

Watch for posters, pictures, items that depict drugs such as the psychedelic mushrooms in this picture.

There are numerous items that appear very normal but actually have hidden zippers, pockets, or spaces to hide drugs.

Chippewa County Stand Against Meth

Hidden in Plain Sight Items

Items that actually function, but have hidden or false insides are easily used to hide pills or other drugs.

Many containers serve as Hiding Places for drugs, paraphernalia, or other items. Often times the item is weighted and feels very real. Some items may have false bottoms and the actual contents of what is advertised in the top.

Many containers serve as Hiding Places for drugs, paraphernalia, or other items. Often times the item is weighted and feels very real. Some items may have false bottoms and the actual contents of what is advertised in the top.

At first glance this looks and feels like a normal book. However, it has a false inside to hide items.

Items that actually function but have hidden or false insides are easily used to hide pills or other drugs

Chippewa County Stand Against Meth Hidden in Plain Sight Items

Some containers look like decoration but could be used for THC wax as the sealed lid keeps the wax fresh. A marijuana concentrate is a highly potent THC concentrate that is most similar in appearance to either honey or butter, which is why it is referred to or known on the street as "honey oil" or "budder."

Many containers serve as Hiding Places for drugs, paraphernalia, or other items. Often times the item is weighted and feels very real. Some items may have false bottoms and the actual contents of what is advertised in the top.

Many containers serve as Hiding Places for drugs, paraphernalia, or other items. Often times the item is weighted and feels very real. Some items may have false bottoms and the actual contents of what is advertised in the top.

Items that actually function but have hidden or false insides are easily used to hide pills or other drugs. The device shown is actually a pipe used to smoke drugs.

Items that actually function, but have hidden or false insides are easily used to hide pills or other drugs

Chippewa County Stand Against Meth Hidden in Plain Sight Items

Items that actually function but have hidden or false insides are easily used to hide pills or other drugs

Pieces of clothing may depict marijuana leaves or a saying that eludes to marijuana or other drugs. 710 clothing related to dab. 710 means oil and actually spells oil upside down. These are marijuana concentrates such as splinters, wax or hash oil. The cannabis holiday for all lovers of concentrates on July 10th.

Many serve as Hiding Places for drugs, paraphernalia, or other items. Often times the item is weighted and feels very real. Some items may have false bottoms and the actual contents of what is advertised in the top.

These types of items can be called a "splroof" which is an open-ended cylindrical object that filters cannabis vapors through breathable materials. As smoke is exhaled individuals place their mouth on one end and exhale through the tube in order to filter out smoke and odor particles. This can eliminate the vast majority of the aroma. Empty toilet paper or paper towel rolls with a dryer sheet attached to the end of them are often used to filter or mask smoke or other smells.

Chippewa County Stand Against Meth Hidden in Plain Sight Items

These types of bags are known as odorless bags and are smell proof. They are often used to store drugs or items that give off a smell such as marijuana.

Glass items such as these two pipes are used to smoke/ingest various drugs.

These long “pen-like” items are often used as “one-hitters” for marijuana.

It is difficult to tell with this item closed that it is actually a working scale. Scales are often used when people are buying or selling drugs or to assure what they are buying/selling is an accurate weight.

Chippewa County Stand Against Meth Hidden in Plain Sight Items

A lot of valuable resources can be found on the Take a Stand Against Meth Sight and other sites. For Parents: What to Look For \(ncadd.org\)

Link on the TV to the Meth Stories | Take a Stand Against Meth

With many states making marijuana legal, it is now manufactured in all forms. What might appear to be nothing but Gushers or Nerds is actually infused with THC. If you take a closer look at the packaging it will indicate THC on the package or infused, for medical use etc. These items were actually confiscated on a drug bust by the Stanley Police Department in Chippewa County.

K9 cards: Chippewa County has five K9 units (Bloomer, Chippewa Falls, Lake Hallie, Sheriff's Office, and Stanley). K9's are an essential part of prevention and education related to drug abuse and detection. Many are trained in drug detection and retrieval. The K9's are active in their communities and schools.

In Chippewa County you can visit one of the above Law Enforcement agencies to collect all five trading cards.

Kids who take a drug called "Molly" tend to want to suck on something such as suckers or pacifiers. Molly is being marketed to young first-time drug abusers between 12 and 17.